

University of North Carolina at Greensboro

Master of Music Degree in Music Theory

Left to right: Dr. Catrina Kim, Dr. Karen Messina, Dr. Guy Capuzzo, Dr. Adam Ricci, Dr. Marya Fancey

The MM degree in Music Theory at UNCG prepares students for doctoral study in music theory. Our graduates have entered Ph.D. programs at schools including Duke University, the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, the University of Texas at Austin, and the University of Washington. Our faculty are passionate teachers, active researchers, and alive to current trends in the field. Teaching assistantships are available for exceptional applicants, and students choose between thesis and non-thesis degree plans. We also offer two certificates in music theory.

For more information, please visit go.uncg.edu/musictheory. Find us on Facebook and Instagram @uncgmusictheory

Faculty Research Interests

Guy Capuzzo

- Music of Elliott Carter
- Rock music

Marya Fancey

- Tablature of Jan of Lublin
- Intersection of historical keyboard performance and musical analysis
- 20th century Polish organ music

Catrina Kim

- Music of Fanny Hensel
- Romantic form and aesthetics
- Sonata theory and classical form
- Intersections of social and musical analysis

Karen Messina

- Music of Giacomo Puccini
- Diegetic music in film and opera
- Classical phrase structure and form
- Music and fairy tales

Adam Ricci

- Music of Gabriel Fauré
- Jazz & popular music
- Harmonic sequences
- Diatonic theory

go.uncg.edu/musictheory

100 YEARS
1921-2021